Royal Mail Update: 24-Hour Strike Will Begin on Friday, June 29th at 3:00am
June 28, 2007

Last ditch talks aimed at preventing Friday's national postal workers strike ended yesterday with no agreement. As a result, strike action will take place tomorrow, June 29th, beginning at 3:00am. Up to 130,000 union members will stage a 24-hour walkout on Friday. The Royal Mail has a well-developed contingency plan in place in order to reduce the effects of the strike, but disruption is to be expected.

Brokers Worldwide will continue to collect UK-bound mail from our customers. Although the mail will reach the UK in the same amount of time as before, mail services within the UK will be subject to delay, with the backlog of mail treated in date order.

At this point, there has been no word from the CWU of any planned strike action beyond Friday. Brokers Worldwide will continue to monitor this situation, and will provide our customers with updates as they become available.
