Royal Mail Update: 2nd 1-day Strike Scheduled for Next Thursday
July 5, 2007

The Communication Workers Union (“CWU”) has informed the Royal Mail that they will stage a second 24-hour strike next Thursday, July 12th, beginning at 7:00pm, and continuing through Friday. The CWU said up to 130,000 of its members will walk out. They have written to Royal Mail chairman, Allan Leighton, calling for new talks and outlining a deal they believe could break the deadlocked row. The Royal Mail says it will continue to try and resolve the situation. Should the CWU go through with the strike, the Royal Mail has prepared contingency plans that will be put in place.

In the event of a strike, Brokers Worldwide will continue to collect UK-bound mail from our customers. Although the mail will reach the UK in the same amount of time as before, mail services within the UK will be subject to delay, with the backlog of mail treated in date order.

Brokers Worldwide will continue to monitor this situation, and will provide our customers with updates as they become available.
